

EXPLORE HIDDEN COVES AND GLAMOROUS BEACHES IN THE CARIBBEAN WITH THE EDMISTON FLEET THIS WINTER

The Caribbean continues to evolve from a cornucopia of cultures into the landing stop for the winter jet set. The Bahamas, Virgin Islands, Leeward and Windward Islands have more choice of shape, size, culture and cuisine than anywhere else in the world. Fine, more sophisticated resorts open every year. Sailing yachts flit from island to island, racing or relaxing en route. Motor yachts power through turquoise shallows and a Prussian blue sea to find the sand and scene of your choice. For some people it has to be Paris au bord de la mer on St Barths, for others it is the dramatic black sand on St Vincent, gold on Nevis, jungle chic on St Lucia, little Britain on Antigua, or fashionable Anguilla. Some say the Virgin Islands' beauty is unsurpassed, others claim Bahamas water colour is beyond brilliance. The Caribbean proves one thing - they are all correct.

Edmiston has a selection of stunning yachts for charter throughout the Caribbean for winter 2010/11.

UTOPIA

Feadship - De Vries | 71.6m | 235ft | 2004/2007 | 12 guests
From €450,000 per week

The largest Feadship for charter, Utopia is available in the Caribbean this winter through Edmiston. Space is the ultimate luxury, and Utopia has huge internal volume. Contemporary and comfortable Redman Whiteley Dixon interior design is evident throughout all saloons, the master suite on the upper deck, two VIP doubles and one twin on the main deck and one twin and one triple on the lower deck. The master suite occupies the entire upper deck, stretching from a private outdoor Jacuzzi through bar, saloon, cinema and gym, and finally to an aft deck dining terrace. Utmost privacy. However, huge, open entertaining spaces, with full-height, full-width windows in all saloons mean that Utopia is equally suited for parties. On the unusual duplex sundeck, a huge sunbed and Jacuzzi provide views from 10 metres above sea level and a wide staircase leads down to an additional exterior dining and sunbathing terrace. For more active guests, Utopia has plenty of sports equipment to keep everyone happy, from kayaking to windsurfing or diving.
