WALLYPOWER 118 - NEW CA FOR SALE

There is nothing quite like Wallypower 118. One of the world's most distinctive yachts, her carbon composite hull and glass superstructure are instantly recognisable. She roars along using triple gas turbines and waterjets, her axe bow slicing through seas with utter ease and providing top all-weather handling. The top speed of 60 knots is readily achieved and she has an impressive range of 500 miles at this speed, and over 1,800 miles at 12 knots.

The interior is beautifully designed minimalism. Glass, steel, leather, linen – the yacht is furnished in a highly contemporary style. Relax on white sofas and gaze through 360° windows. Bulwarks fold down to create mini balconies with infinity views. The master suite receives natural daylight through twin side atriums. This idea of simple yet exquisite luxury continues outside, where deck space is designed like a sophisticated beach club with enough room to entertain 50 people.

Nothing really compares to Wallypower. Surprising, astonishing, exhilarating – the ultimate techno-machine, available at a reduced price of €12.5m

Rodriquez Intermarine, 2002, 36m / 118ft, 6 guests, €12.5m

REBORN

Reborn is a giant of a yacht – so much space (76 metres with a 14 metre beam) and so many ideas. Vast deck space leads into interiors with massive amounts of volume and every imaginable amenity, from cinema and theatre, to spa and beach club – even a doctor's cabin and medical room.

In the impressive main saloon the upper deck has been cut out to form a huge atrium and gallery, resulting in a ceiling height of over five metres. Emphasising this huge space are floor-to-ceiling windows along the entire length.

Décor throughout is contemporary with accents from the Orient creating a smart, eclectic style. In the enormous, full-beam master suite, a chinoiserie silk printed headboard frames a California king sized bed facing 180°, full-height windows and a full-beam private terrace. Additional guest cabins include a double-depth lateral VIP suite on the main deck and six large lower deck suites, all with marble bathrooms, handmade Italian leather and raw silk.

Entertaining onboard is easy. For those who want to go al fresco, the aft deck has two ten-person dining tables, and there are extensive dining and sunbathing areas, as well as a five-metre, counter-flow pool on the sun deck. And that's before we mention the lower deck beach club and spa...

Many yachts are styled with a beach villa in mind – Reborn goes much further. One of the most surprising features are the tropical and herb plants on the upper deck. This creative deck space typifies Reborn: big, bold, inventive and available for charter.

Amels, 1999 / 2011, 76m / 249ft, 12 guests, from €570,000 per week

UNUSUAL CHARTER DESTINATIONS LADY BRITT IN THE BALTIC

Sleek, graceful, powerful, 63 metre Lady Britt was launched from Feadship this year and is one of the newest Feadships available for charter this summer. The yacht was paid an outstanding compliment when Henk de Vries stated that she is “the finest yacht this shipyard has built to date”.

From May 14 Lady Britt will be cruising the Baltic – Stockholm, Helsinki, St Petersburg – before heading down to the Mediterranean. Follow the wake of the Vikings from the fashionable contemporary style of Stockholm to the medieval winding streets of Tallinn, 2011’s European Capital of Culture. This is a fascinating place where ancient traditions are re-emerging amongst the cast-off colours of Communism and where local pride is reasserting itself in bustling markets and new takes on ancient industries. The imperial grandeur of St Petersburg is contrasted against the thick forest and wild scenery of the Latvian and Estonian coastlines. In these waters, who knows what you might find – in January, divers off the Finnish coast discovered a wreck holding the oldest champagne in the world, perhaps a few bottles are still floating...

Lady Britt’s classic contemporary interior, designed by Redman Whiteley Dixon, is an unusual combination of New York apartment style with Scandinavian accents. Outstanding 20th-century artworks include pieces from Chagall, Picasso and Henry Moore. There are several special features: an authentic Finnish sauna facing a side platform that lowers over the sea, a dedicated Elemis wellness spa with Elemis-trained therapist, beach club, sun deck gymnasium and a magnificent outdoor cinema.

A full-beam master suite is situated on the main deck with six anigre-panelled guest cabins all on the lower deck. Two of these cabins can be converted to create a further full-beam VIP suite. A highly experienced captain and crew ensure that Lady Britt is one of the very finest yachts for charter.

Feadship, 2011, 63m / 207ft, 12 guests, from €445,000 per week

UNUSUAL CHARTER DESTINATIONS KATHLEEN ANNE IN HEBRIDES

39 metre Kathleen Anne will be cruising the quiet waters of the Hebrides from June to August 2011.

It is rare that the words 'remote' and 'accessible' can be used to describe the same destination. However, just a short flight from Scotland, the Hebrides are another world. Verdant mountains topped with crumbling ancient castles descend into deep, blue lochs; isolated and uninhabited islands are yours for the day. Sail amongst seals, otters and eagles, watch whales and dolphins, or fish for your supper. Swing your clubs on one of the five acclaimed island golf courses before celebrating a win with local malts from the 'Queen of the Hebrides' – the Isle of Islay, where no fewer than eight distilleries brew fine Scotch whiskys – or from world-famous Jura.

Kathleen Anne is a Feadship SL39, perfectly sized for making the most of these waters. Exceptional deck space and the range of facilities onboard ensure that even on the most remote and uninhabited islands exceptional food, comfort and service are all constantly available onboard. Designed and furnished to an exceptional standard, Kathleen Anne has the atmosphere of a much larger yacht. Of her four guest cabins on the lower deck, two combine into a full-beam VIP with a private lounge. Both main and upper deck saloons lead out to large aft deck dining areas. With plenty of deck space at three levels, this is one of the finest sub-40 metre yachts for charter, in one of the most interesting locations this summer.

Feadship, 2009, 39m / 128ft, 10 guests, €140,000 per week

UNUSUAL CHARTER DESTINATIONS TIARA IN FRENCH POLYNESIA

Over 100 islands, strung across four million square kilometres of ocean... French Polynesia is an island idyll, the perfect castaway's retreat. Meet the locals of Tahiti and Moorea, dive with the incredibly abundant wildlife around the Society Islands, or spot the brightly coloured birds of Tetiaroa: this is escapism at its best.

Cruising this awe-inspiring, National Geographic landscape this summer is 54 metre Tiara. Her optimised rig makes her one of the most powerful sailing yachts in the world. Handsome Art Deco interiors include a full-beam, duplex master suite, while moveable walls allow for a flexible guest cabin arrangement.

Of course, in such sensational scenery, guests will want to spend as much time as possible on deck. Large amounts of deck space aft cater for sunbathing and sightseeing. A double-sided cinema screen can be viewed from a Moroccan-style deck marquee or the cockpit. With a spa pool on the foredeck, the transom pivots into the sea so that guests can practically swim onto deck. And once you are in these waters, one of the most incredible diving locations on the globe, Tiara is the only sailing yacht in the world to have a fully-certified PADI scuba diving centre.

Alloy Yachts, 2004, 54.3m / 178ft, 10 guests, from €180,000 per week
